Kite Found Guilty On Assault Count

Second Degree Verdict Returned by Jury in County Court

Fred Kite, Jr., of New Paltz, was found guilty of assault, second degree, by a jury in county court Tuesday evening. A verdict of innocent to the charge of rape, first degree, was returned by the jury.

Before finding the defendant guilty of the second count of the indictment the jurors had returned to the court room a few minutes prior to returning its verdict for clarification as to the right of the jury to find a verdict of one count of the indictment and ignore the rest of the charge. Sentence will be imposed Friday at 10 a. m.

Kite was indicted for rape, first degree, and assault, second degree, upon Marjorie Letts of Peekskill, a student at the New Paltz State Teachers College, last August when the two were out on a date. Complainant alleged she had been attacked after Kite had parked his car in a lane after the two had visited the Dog House and had several drinks. Kite denied the charge and alleged the element of consent on the part of the complainant.

Chris J. Flanagan appeared for Kite and District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and Assistant District Attorney Vincent G. Connelly appeared for the prosecution. The testimony was concluded Monday.

3,155 Is Death Estimate in Japan As Quake Result

Fukui, Japan, June 30 (AP)—Relief supplies poured today into a 5-mile long strip of western Japan laid waste by a great earthquake that crumpled this city of 80,000 and left in ruins a score or more other towns.

Military government, granting that many bodies may never be found, stuck to an estimate of 3,155 dead and 7,250 seriously injured throughout the area.

Occupation headquarters in Tokyo, however, on the basis of American medical workers' recovered dead at 54, seriously injured at 1,000 and slightly injured at 4,000, did not include the 200 children reported by military government officers to have been crushed to death in a movie theatre.

Kyodo News Agency reported from Fukui that police estimated total casualties would exceed 13,000—4,070 dead and 8,930 injured in Fukui prefecture and 20 dead and 190 injured in Ishikawa prefecture to the north.

The agency said 48,000 buildings and dwellings were destroyed in the two prefectures.

Sleepless and weary, American and Japanese worked side by side looking for the dead and issuing food and medicine to the living. Long lines of Japanese men and women stood before emergency aid stations to be treated for injuries.

Income Is Boosted

Shanghai, June 30 (AP)—The government today boosted Chinese workers' income 110 per cent by raising their cost of living bonus. But workers complained their total pay still left them far behind China's runaway inflation. One U. S. dollar today brought 4,000,000 Chinese on the black market as against the official rate of 474,000 to 1.

Man, Woman Found in Gulf of Mexico; Clung to Rack Three Days

Cedar Key, Fla., June 30 (AP)—Harrowing story of three days without food and drinking water in the Gulf of Mexico after the fishing boat flared exploded and burned was told today by two survivors of the ill-fated craft.

The pair—Mrs. Merle Potts and William Sanders, a barber, both of Ocala—were found yesterday by "Dad" Collier, caretaker at nearby Seahorse Island.

The body of Mrs. Ted Hill, a third member of the party of 14 aboard the 38-foot boat, was found off Snake Key by Clyde Collier and several other persons who joined in the surface hunt.

Levy County Sheriff G. T. Robbins said Sanders told him four other members of the party may be alive. They broke away from a group of nine survivors clinging together in the water Monday morning and swam for island. That was the last Sanders saw of them.

"Two of the remaining five sank Monday night, including Sanders' wife," Mrs. Hill went down yesterday morning.

Sanders and Mrs. Potts, rescued from a bird rack off Sea Horse Island, were suffering from exposure, shock and numerous scratches Sanders said were made by needle fish.

The explosion occurred at 8:20 Sunday morning after the boat put out from Yankeetown, Sanders said. The boat caught fire and sank within 15 minutes.

Sanders said L. R. Burnett of Yankeetown, owner of the craft, was badly burned and is believed to have died soon afterwards. Life preservers were given to the women in the party while the men clung to wreckage, he said.

Mrs. Potts, mother of three children, told Deputy Sheriff F. L. McGehee she was ready to give up yesterday and couldn't stand the thirst any longer. She began to drink salt water and was badly nauseated when brought here last night. She also was burned on the face.

At low tide, Sanders said, they were able to wade some of the time but when high water returned they had to cling to life preservers or swim.

Sanders and Mrs. Potts drifted to the bird rack about noon yesterday and they were sighted not long afterwards by Collier.

Others believed to be aboard the craft when it exploded were listed as: Buck Gilley, fishing guide; Wayne Peters of the American Railway Express and his wife; Salem Musleh; Helen Virginia Counts, Marion county agricultural department employee; William Potts, husband of one of the survivors; Henry T. May, motor company employee and his wife; and Hill.

Pierpont Street Soldier Is Killed in Okinawa Crash

Cpl. John J. Rutledge of 148 West Pierpont street, a World War 2 veteran of the Pacific Theatre of Operations, died as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident in Okinawa on June 25, according to a telegram received by his father, John Rutledge, James M. Murphy, Tuolumne director, said today.

The news of the corporal's death was telegraphed to the father, a veteran of World War I, by the secretary of the United States Air Forces.

Cpl. Rutledge served in the Pacific during World War 2 and had received the Purple Heart, the Bronze Star and the Governor's Medal.

As a member of the American Infantry Division, he saw service in New Caledonia, the Fiji Islands, Bougainville and later Okinawa.

Following his discharge from the army at the end of the war he resided in Kingston for about a year and then re-enlisted. He was returned to Okinawa where he fought during the war and where he met his death last Friday.

Prior to his induction into the army, Cpl. Rutledge was employed as a salesman by Yalums on Lower Broadway. He entered service February 15, 1943, and received his basic training at Camp McCain, Miss.

His mother, who died several years ago, was the former Anna Cragan of Kingston. Besides his father, he is survived by a brother, James, who also served in World War 2, and two sisters, Mary V. and Gertrude M., all at home.

His body will be returned to Kingston in about two months for burial in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Official Soviet Paper in Berlin Says All Claims Bluff to Hide Plundering

Offers Some 'Hope'

U. S. Increases Flights Carrying Supplies to Zone

Berlin, June 30 (AP)—The official Soviet newspaper in Germany took a dig at the western allies' emergency air freight service into Berlin today. Some westerners feared it might portend a Russian attempt to restrict use of the air corridor food lifeline.

"Claims that this service is designed to feed Berlin are a bluff to cloak the plundering of the city by shipping out machinery and products on the return flight," said Tageliche Rundschau.

Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, the Russian commander in Germany, cautioned last night that he hoped flying regulations would be "faithfully followed." Some thought that also might have been a hint of forthcoming efforts to shut off the last food lifeline to the more than 2,000,000 Germans in the western sectors of Berlin.

In last night's statement, however, Marshal Sokolovsky said he hoped that train service from the west into Berlin could be resumed before the city's food stocks run out.

Commenting on that statement this morning, Col. Frank L. Howley, the U. S. commandant of Berlin said:

"If the Russians want to lift the blockade, that will be fine, but we will wait for deeds rather than words."

In Frankfurt, top ranking American, British and French occupation officials met today to start building a new central government for western Germany. It was hinted that the Soviet land blockade of Berlin may also be discussed.

The U. S. Army's Templehof air base announced that 157 flights had been received during 24 hours up to last midnight, bringing supplies to the American and German population.

May Exceed Total

This total may be exceeded today as planes are flying from Wiesbaden as well as Frankfurt airports. The British Royal Air Force also is expanding its air shuttle service to Berlin.

A British official in Hamburg said today that barge traffic, the British zone's last ground supply link with Berlin, has stopped moving along the Elbe river. He said the barges had been held up at the Russian control point at Wiltenberg.

Rail traffic from the west has been suspended.

Gov. Dewey Talks With Dulles; May Alter Foreign Viewpoint

Governor Has No Comment Upon Criticism of Tito by Russian Cominform

Pawling, N. Y., June 30 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey confers today with John Foster Dulles, his Foreign Affairs adviser, and from the meeting may come a statement redefining the Republican Presidential nominee's general position of the international situation.

Dulles was scheduled to join Dewey at the governor's farm here this afternoon and motor with him to Albany for a long discussion tonight.

Albany and Rensselaer county Republicans plan a reception for Dewey on the Capitol steps upon his arrival.

Dewey talked over election campaign plans with his running mate, Gov. Earl Warren of California, here yesterday. But their meeting was overshadowed by the New Yorker's expressed concern with the Russian blockade of the American, British and French sectors of Berlin.

Dewey told newsmen it was a "grave situation." When asked whether he thought it could lead to war, he said:

"We must not even consider such possibilities."

Dulles, a U. S. delegate to the United Nations General Assembly, has been Dewey's Foreign Affairs adviser for four years.

Dewey told reporters yesterday he had talked with Dulles by telephone "twice a day for several days."

The governor reserved comment on the Communist Information Bureau's criticism of Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia.

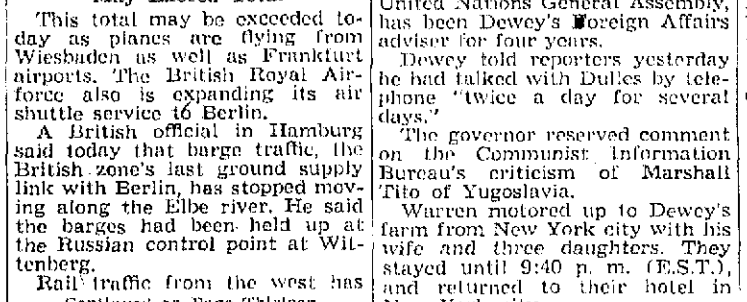

Warren mentioned up to Dewey's farm from New York city with his wife and three daughters. They stayed until 9:40 p. m. (E.S.T.) and returned to their hotel in New York city.

They will leave for California Saturday.

Before Dewey and Warren went into a private huddle, the New Yorker said their talk would cover the complete panorama of the Republican campaign and the campaign's organization.

No statement was issued after the meeting.

In strict military order, the few remaining soldiers withdrew behind barbed wire barricades to troop ships and landing craft. British planes from an aircraft carrier task force buzzed overhead.

Lt. Gen. Gordon H. A. Macmillan, Britain's last military commander in Palestine, was the last British soldier to leave Palestine in the evacuation which began on May 15.

Woman Says Arrest False; Claims Father Is Diplomat

New York, June 30 (AP)—A woman who claims to be the daughter of a career diplomat today lost her fight to escape trial on police charges that she "loitered for purposes of prostitution" in a New York hotel and in her east side apartment.

Supreme Court Justice Carroll G. Walker dismissed a writ of habeas corpus which Mrs. Nancy Fletcher Choromi, 27, had sought to prevent her trial in Magistrate's Court on a vagrancy charge.

"I hold that the magistrate has jurisdiction to try this charge," Justice Walker ruled. "I hold that the information charges a crime."

Mrs. Choromi had been at liberty under $500 bail until she was surrendered by her attorney yesterday to bring the habeas corpus action. Her counsel said he would attempt to obtain bail today pending her trial in Women's Court tomorrow.

Mrs. Choromi said her father is C. Paul Fletcher, consul general at Casablanca. She claimed false arrest and that her "honor, reputation and career are at stake."

She said her husband, George, is engaged in an export-import business in Egypt.

In her affidavit she reported: On May 17, several policemen entered her apartment in the East 60's "under the pretense that they

No Report On Unified Proposals

Criticism Does Not Alter Existing Relations, Is Statement Issued in Sofia

'Issue' Is Likely

Negotiations for Cash May Have Set Off Red Blast

Sofia, Bulgaria, June 30 (AP)—The Bulgarian government said today "the sound foundations of our relations with Yugoslavia are unshaken" by the Cominform blast against Marshal Tito.

There was no direct comment on the proposal today by the Yugoslav Communist party for forming a Balkan bloc to unite the Albania, Bulgarian and Yugoslav people "on the principles of national equality."

The government newspaper Otechestven Front said in an editorial that Bulgarian-Yugoslav relations "cannot be affected by a temporary crisis in the Yugoslav Communist party."

An official statement from the press department of the Communist-led Bulgarian government, following up the editorial, said Cominform criticism does not change existing Yugoslav-Bulgarian relations.

"The Bulgarian government will honestly and sincerely collaborate with the Yugoslav government" in the spirit of mutual assistance between Communist parties.

It said "Bulgaria will abstain from interference in Yugoslav internal affairs."

However, the fatherland front National Council, the Communist-led "Peoples' Front" of Bulgarian political parties, issued a communique today saying it approves the Cominform resolution on the Yugoslav Communist party leadership to get back into line with Communist principles.

Washington, June 30 (AP)—The United States and Yugoslavia were reported near final agreement today on a financial deal which would net Marshal Tito's government about $20,000,000.

The extended negotiations over this money accord may have been one of the issues that set off the Cominform blast Monday against the Belgrade chief.

Washington officials, watching Tito's defiance of the Communist high command with obvious surprise and delight, kept mum on any possible connection between the financial deal and the Yugoslav-Cominform scrap.

For several months the United States Government has been seeking payment of about $20,000,000 in claims for American property nationalized in Yugoslavia.

Tito, on the other hand, has been laying claim to some $50,000,000 in Yugoslav assets which the United States froze in 1941 to keep it out of Axis hands.

The counter claims have been under negotiation for several months. Diplomatic informants said, with Yugoslavia at times using the talks as a basis for bitter denunciation of the United States.

About a month ago, however, the Yugoslavs appeared anxious to reach a reasonable settlement on the nationalized property. They reportedly proposed a figure somewhere near the $20,000,000 asked by the United States.

The American government, in turn, appeared ready to unfreeze the $50,000,000 in Yugoslav funds as its part of the two-way arrangement.

The reported financial deal evidently has not been directly influenced by Tito's sensational split with Communist leaders.

But it does tie in with growing speculation here that if he finds himself in an impossible spot with his Moscow allies, he may turn actively to the western powers for help.

State Department officials awaited a first-hand report in the next day, or so from Cavendish Cannon, U. S. Ambassador to Yugoslavia who is en route home for consultation.

Diplomatic observers, meanwhile, looked for the next Kremlin move to provide a key to the whole Balkan situation. Some believe that if Tito gets away with his refusal to follow Cominform orders, leaders in other satellite countries may decide they don't have to knuckle under either.

Clergymen Take Part in Commencement at Auditorium for '48 Class

Commencement exercises for the class of 1948, Kingston High School, were held in the municipal auditorium Tuesday night.

Diplomas and awards were presented. The class numbered about 380.

In welcoming the audience Frank T. Supples, salutatorian, spoke as follows:

Mr. Dumm, members of the Board of Education, parents, friends, classmates:

It is my honor and privilege as salutatorian to welcome you to the commencement exercises of the class of 1948. The parents of the graduates, I know, must indeed be very proud of their sons and daughters at this happy moment, and we, the graduating class, are very glad to share our commencement activities with our parents and friends.

The graduates assembled here tonight are ending one phase of their lives but they are just entering into a much more important one. They must decide what is to be their life long occupation. Many have already made this important decision, but there are others who have not. To the latter group I should recommend that they consider the opportunities in the field of aviation. Airlines, airplane manufacturers, and other affiliated industries offer many opportunities. In the few moments that I have, I shall briefly describe some of the opportunities, developments, and future possibilities of the aviation industry.

For the girls there are such careers as that of, airplane stewardess, secretary, ticket and reservation clerk, public relations official, advertising worker, and many others. For the boys there are such desirable positions as, airplane pilot, aeronautical engineer, airplane and engine mechanic, draftsman, navigator, production worker, and many more. Considering an overall picture of this field, you will find that there are many desirable vocations, most of which require the utmost skill in addition to education and training. There is one important fact to remember today—the person with the best education and training will be given the preference.

Considering the fact that the first successful flight of a motor-propelled heavier-than-air-craft occurred just about 45 years ago, you will readily see that much progress has been made in the aviation field. Some of the factors responsible for the great progress and expansion are re-

Nickel Ride Ends Tonight in New York

New York, June 30 (AP)—The longest nickel ride in the world becomes a memory at midnight tonight, just like the five-cent beer and cigar.

Authorities expect some confusion when the 44-year-old reign of the nickel fare ends on the city's rapid transit system, and they are taking no chances.

Mayor William O'Dwyer is flying home from a Puerto Rican vacation for the change-over.

Police Captain John Wynne of the Municipal Board of Transportation has been loaned 175 regular patrolmen to aid the 86 transit police when the crush is heaviest. The Board of Transportation has hired extra clerks to man 310 transfer-distribution posts. The new fares are ten cents on about 239 miles of subway and elevated lines, and seven cents on 182 route-miles of trolleys and 133 miles of bus lines in Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island.

There also is a combined 12-cent fare which permits the city's straphangers to transfer from bus and trolley to subway or vice versa.

A CHAPTER ENDS

The retirement of Joe Louis ends one of the most spectacular chapters in American professional sports. Louis held the heavyweight boxing championship of the world longer, risked it in the ring more times, and brought to that ring more color and excitement than any other fighter since the idea of a world championship was thought up. That was to promote interest in a bare-knuckle scrap between John L. Sullivan and Paddy Ryan at Mississippi City in 1882. Sullivan won handily and became the first world champion.
Louis took over the title June 22, 1937, in Chicago, by flooring James J. Braddock, who was defending it for the first time after winning it from Max Baer. In the 25 times Louis defended the title, only three challengers were able to stay 15 rounds in the ring with him. They were Tommy Farr, Arturo Godoy and Jersey Joe Walcott. Farr let well enough alone but Godoy and Walcott came back for more and both were knocked out the second time around. Only one of his fights was questioned; that was the split decision over Walcott last December.
Joe Louis has been a figure worthy of public limelight and the hero-worship which appertains to the heavyweight championship. He has added a colorful and honorable page to the record of American sports.

UNION AFTER BATTLE

The Republican National Convention presented a demonstration of the indefinable thing called "Americanism" in the hour when it formally nominated Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York as its candidate for the presidency. In the preceding campaign and in the first days of the convention itself the differences of opinion were wide, sometimes bitter, and always fought vigorously and magically the whole convention rallied to acclaim and support it.
Similarly in November, when the general election votes have been counted, the people who are now divided into two great warring political camps will suddenly become one people again, united to support the leader whose choice is now so hotly contested. This will be so regardless of the outcome.
The ability to differ so fiercely as individuals and then immediately to unite so stoutly as a single body is one of the essential elements from which America is made. It is the thing which is most incredible to those other peoples who are unable to understand America. It is one of our great sources of strength, of liberty and of happiness.

CZECH READERS

One aspect of the mental independence of the Czechoslovak people is shown by the increase in their use of the United States Information Library in Prague since the Communist seizure of their government.
Observers report that such use is up 50 per cent, despite the official policy which discourages it. The newspapers, magazines, photographs and other informational material found in this library form the people's only reliable source of knowledge about what goes on in the United States.
Their interest is understandable in a people always friendly to America. This library is now the only place in their country where it is possible for them to breathe the air of freedom.

SISAL

Sisal, the fibrous grass which has been used chiefly for ship's cables and cord mats, has now found other uses in paper making, brewing and the manufacture of industrial alcohol. This will make use of much material that heretofore has been thrown away.
As these discoveries continue of useful possibilities in hitherto unregarded waste, there is hope, says the neighbor who doesn't like to eat them, that something worth while industrially will be found to do with parsnips and spinach.

AN OLD FRIEND RETURNS

I had lived in China and Japan for many years, and the war interrupted old and enduring friendships. The test of friendship must be forgiveness. Certainly, no civilized person can recognize collective guilt nor can he assume that every citizen of every country is responsible for all that his government does. War is an abnormal condition of man and during its tenure of our minds, we do and say things for which there can only be regrets, once human decency reasserts itself. I should not like to be held personally liable for what Harry Hopkins and his President did to my country or to much of the world, nor can I hold old and fine friends responsible for the evils that their politicians did to their countries and to mine.
It was then a moment of delight when an old Japanese friend, Kensuke Horinouchi, turned up, the first of my Japanese friends to make an appearance since the war's end. Horinouchi was once the Japanese Ambassador to the United States and a formal, stately diplomat he was. Now he is a democrat, a joyful, even gay person, the viceroy of courtly stiffness all gone.
What impressed me most was that there was no complaint, no protests, no recriminations. "Our country had sunk to its lowest point," he said, "but that is really fortunate. War had we continued to move along the old channels, would have been worse. Now we are starting afresh, a new people, resurrected from the deadness of militarism. We are sincere in our desire to be a democratic people. It is not easy to change overnight, but we are retraining ourselves. Our defeat was so complete that no one questions the defeat. There can be no illibis. Besides, Japanese are not given to alibis; we take what comes."
"We had been told lies and the lies were found out. We were led to believe that we could conquer but we have been conquered. No one can say that it was some accident. We know the truth and the entire Japanese people face the truth with courage."
I asked personal questions, about his wife, his property, his home. Well, his home and whatever he possessed were destroyed, but he has no complaints. He and his family are alive. Millions lost their lives in those hard years, therefore those who are alive have cause to thank God. No use crying over losses; better to be thankful for what remains. Certainly those who have anything left at all have more than they could have hoped would remain.
All the time my old friend, Ken was talking, I could not help but contrast his attitude with that of so many European refugees and even the officials of European nations whose jeremiads break one's heart, whose plaints are like the wail of beggars. I could not help recalling an English woman, bedecked with diamonds and minks, who bemoaned her poverty and the poverty of her country until I felt like taking her to the nearest pawnshop where she could retrieve her fortune in dollars by becoming practically nude—that is, getting rid of her jewels.
No cry-baby was this Japanese. I suggested that Japan might want a treaty, but he replied that Japan needed some guarantee of security, having no means of defense. War conditions as they are in Korea, Manchuria and China, it is too early to leave Japan in a vacuum, for that space would soon be filled. He praised General Douglas MacArthur in unmistakable terms and said that no one in Japan would misunderstand what happened in Philadelphia. Intelligent Japanese apparently have nothing but praise for MacArthur.
It is always good to see an old friend and particularly after a war has severed all connections. Life is enriched by friendships regained. It is especially good to see an old friend whose spirit had been beaten down, with his chin erect, his head high, his hopes reborn—and not a single complaint in his soul. I saw just that spirit in the earthquake of 1923; they began to rebuild on the morrow of disaster.

OPERATION TO REMOVE DEEP GRIEF
I write from time to time about the operation lobotomy or leucotomy, in which nerves leading to the high parts of the brain are cut. It is in these parts of the brain that the emotions have their origin—grief, depression, anxiety. By cutting these nerves, deep depression, uncontrollable grief, ever-present anxiety are removed and the patient, freed of these emotions, is almost like a happy child.
The operation was first performed only with this object in view; but many cases are now on record where business and home life are renewed, and other cases where patients are engaged in light, useful employment. It must be admitted, then, that relieving these patients of their depressions makes the operation worthwhile, as these are usually hopeless cases in which other forms of treatment have failed.
In the "Lancet," London, Drs. L. Frankl and W. Mayer-Gross report their study of patients after lobotomy. Of 170 patients operated on, 77 were discharged, but 9 died before being admitted to the hospital after being home two to 20 months.
More than half of the 68 patients, who without operation would have been hopeless chronic invalids, earn their living and more than three-quarters are usefully employed.
After the operation the patient is physically healthy, a good eater and sleeper with a feeling of well being. "His prevailing mood is cheerfulness; he does not worry, but is happy and contented. He may take his responsibilities or shirk them altogether. His relations with persons near him are often without depth of feeling. He is not troubled with his previous delusions, obsessions, hallucinations or depression and grief. He neither regrets nor repents for what he may have done or said."
While the family may regret the patient's lack of responsibility and regret of his former actions, the fact that he is now happy and contented instead of suffering with deep depression and grief makes this operation worthwhile.
The family member that the doctors at the institution know best whether the patient should undergo this operation.

There are probably enough big and competent men in this world to make a hundred new worlds, but in the words of the poet Milton, "half their strength they put not forth".
Sooner or later another president such as has been known in our finest times will appear again in this country. Nothing is more greatly needed now.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round
By Drew Pearson

Washington—The Tom Dewey who won the Republican nomination last week has come a long way from the Tom Dewey who fell by the wayside in the 1944 campaign.
Talking to a couple of friends at 2 a. m. in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia, Dewey remarked:
"Harold (referring to Harold Stassen) is young and he's bitter. He needs to lose a few fights. In this game you've got to have seasoning. The kind of seasoning that makes you as good a loser as you are a winner."
"I used to be like Stassen," continued Dewey, "but I learned my lesson—the hard way. Harold will find that principles are worth fighting for. And that certain victories aren't worthwhile if you've got to sell your soul. I learned it the hard way. Stassen hasn't had his come-uppance yet. I've had my share. He'll get his in this convention. It will make a better man out of him."
Drafting Industry
Most businessmen didn't know it, but there was a hidden clause in the draft act signed by President Truman last week which permits a limited draft of industry as well as manpower.
"Almost unnoticed in the closing rush of Congress, a provision was tacked on the draft bill authorizing the White House to place 'mandatory orders' for material needed for national defense. The new draft law also requires the steel industry to furnish steel to manufacturers who need it for defense production.
What's more, the law has teeth in it. The President is empowered to seize any steel plants that fail to comply.
Truman's Running-Mate
Here are the results of a poll of 100 Democratic House members on the question of who would make the best vice-presidential nominee on the Democratic ticket.
Rep. John Fogarty of Rhode Island, who conducted the poll, asked two questions of his Democratic colleagues:
First—If Harry Truman is nominated for President, do you think his running mate should come from east or west of Missouri?
The 100 congressmen interviewed were unanimous that the Democratic vice-presidential nominee should come from the east.
Fogarty next asked his colleagues whom they favored for second place on the ticket. Ninety-three of the 100 Democratic congressmen voted for Rep. John McCormick of Massachusetts, Democratic whip of the House.
Note—Fogarty discreetly refrained from asking, however, whether they thought Mr. Truman should run again.
McCormick's Political Prisoner
The Chicago newspapers probably won't print the story about Col. Robert McCormick's political prisoning at Philadelphia. However, the public is entitled to know about it, so this column will.
The governor of a state is supposed to be the representative of the people who elect him, while the delegates at any political convention are supposed to vote the wishes of the folk back home. But at Philadelphia, likeable, hard-working Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois was nothing more than a prisoner of the Chicago Tribune. He was shadowed by Colonel McCormick's men day and night.
It began shortly after the Illinois delegation arrived at Philadelphia. At the first caucus, delegates asked Governor Green his wishes about his own candidacy. He replied that he would appreciate a complimentary vote but no nominating speech. This seemed only fair and was unanimously agreed.
The delegates left understanding that everything was decided. Shortly thereafter, however, Walter Trohan of the Chicago Tribune appeared at Illinois headquarters and remarked:
"You'll be interested in this: The Illinois delegation," he continued, "will vote for Senator Taft."
There had been no further meeting of the delegates. They had no opportunity to express an opinion. Colonel McCormick had made up his mind, summoned his political prisoner and told him to issue an announcement. The delegates were mere pawns in the game.
Shadowing Governor Green
From that point on, McCormick assigned an ace Chicago Tribune reporter, George Tagge, chief of the Springfield, Ill., bureau, to dog Governor Green night and day.
McCormick had heard rumors that Green might get the vice presidency if he transferred Illinois' 56 votes to Dewey, and it worried the colonel to death. He was afraid Green might sneak off in the right to deal with Dewey. Therefore, George Tagge was instructed to rout the governor out of bed twice during the night to make sure he was not with Dewey.
Once when Mrs. Green answered the phone, Tagge had to insist on speaking to Green personally.
Meanwhile Lieut. Gov. Hugh Cross went to Congressman Everett Dirksen to protest that the Illinois delegates wanted to vote for Dewey.
"Well, he ruined with Taft at the head of the ticket," the lieutenant governor complained. "A lot of us have to run in labor districts, and the labor vote is going to be 100 per cent against Taft."
However, McCormick wouldn't budge. Now would he release his hold over the 56 supposedly free men elected to represent the state of Illinois. The power of the Chicago Tribune was too great. They stuck to Taft almost to the end. Then as the convention moved to make it unanimous, Colonel McCormick walked out. He refused to witness the terrible catastrophe of a unanimous ballot for Dewey.

The Champagne and Caviar Award to Charles Winninger.
A couple of years back I announced that I would send a hamper of goodies to anyone in the entertainment business who scored a thing which made my corpuses play ringleader with each other. But unfortunately, like most people whose business is pleasure, I am seldom bemused by the muses, and I haven't sent the pretty package out in almost eight months.
But today my brownies are tying the big red ribbon around the vintage fizzwater and Romanoff fish eggs. They are plastering air mail stamps and handle-with-care stickers on the award and shipping it west to Winninger for his performance in a new movie called, "Give My Regards to Broadway."
I was one of an audience of right that saw this picture last week in the midjet movie theatre on my place in Mt. Kisco. This audience consisted of people who have been in the entertainment business all their lives, and if I were a movie, I wouldn't want to be seen by them. They're as impressive as a motorcycle cop, and another picture to them is like another picture to the curator at the Metropolitan Museum.
When I told my guests at dinner last Saturday they were going to see one of Darryl Zanuck's new Technicolor musicals, they gave me the fish-eye. "If I sleep this one out," I flipped one of our better playwrights, "unless you're giving away Spode dishes." But ten minutes after the movie started, these week-end toughies were carrying on like kids at the circus.
"Give My Regards" tells the story of what happened to Albert Great and Family when talkies came in and vaudeville went out. In addition to money and talent, a lot of taste has gone into the filming of this picture which concerns itself with that peculiar mixture of humor, humor and heartbreak that was vaudeville. Chance was that by this time they're fed up with hearing their elders jabber away about Nora Bayes, Williams and Wolfus, Van Hoven and those Monday afternoons at the old Palace Theatre. But the cornballs who get teary when you mention Keith and Albee are a class to clasp the hundred misty minutes of "Give My Regards" to their hearts. For them, it will do what television hasn't yet been able to—being vaudeville back.
I like Dan Dailey better every time I see him, and there's a new bit of blonde fluff in this movie named Barbara Lawrence who can borrow a hundred bucks from me anytime. But despite their smiles and young eyes, it's Winninger all the way. The old-timer has taken his part and rewritten it with a sure, subtle and sub-stuffed hand.
I have no idea how this picture is going to sit with those critics who demand a message with their movies, and I guess it's excess verbiage to say I don't care. But it's my hunch that George M. Cohan, who wrote the song which serves as the movie's title, would have loved it.

Practical Problems Are Facing Labor Leaders; in Main Form: What to Do in Elections
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 30—Labor leaders have a problem of practical politics on their hands in trying to decide how much support they should give to the presidential and congressional tickets this autumn.
These leaders will have to determine whether to line themselves up solidly behind President Truman and thus force Governor Dewey to look for his support either in the rank and file of the unions rather than in the leadership cliques or to look entirely to groups and classes that have been fighting the labor-union bosses.
In brief, will the labor bosses by their strategy force Dewey over toward the right while his natural inclination is to move on labor problems to the left of center? Certainly if Dewey wins and is not helped in the slightest by the labor unions, he will owe nothing to these leaders. Their influence at the White House in the next four years would be negligible.
The Samuel Gompers philosophy and tactics in presidential campaigns was to observe a theoretical neutrality but actually little was done to offend the man likely to be the winning candidate. In the headquarters of both parties were to be found labor leaders.
Now, while all labor-union leaders today say they want the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, many of them realize that this law embodies all the rights which the Wagner Act gave to labor and repeal means, strictly speaking, the wiping out of Wagner Act rights, too. What would have to be done, even if the labor-union leaders had their way, would be the writing of a new law. This can be accomplished by amending the Taft-Hartley Act.
There seems no doubt that Governor Dewey, if elected, would favor amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act. He may, during the campaign, call them "labor's" or "clarity" but labor strategists will recognize such a declaration as the opening wedge toward the removal from the law of certain provisions objected to by labor spokesmen.
The conservatives in Congress would fight against such changes but the politically minded Dewey conscious of the importance of labor-union leaders and the support they can give not only in this campaign but four years hence if Dewey is elected and runs for a second term, will want to meet the viewpoint of the labor chiefs as far as practicable.
Hence it doesn't seem sensible for the labor-union policymakers to go all out for the Democratic ticket in this campaign. Much more likely a goodly number of labor unions and leaders will openly support Dewey and put themselves in a favorable position for the advocacy of changes in the Taft-Hartley Act.
Another big problem for the labor-union leaders in the coming election is what to do about supporting or opposing members of Congress. The situation is complicated by the fact that the labor chiefs have little or no influence in the south where Democratic senators and representatives of the conservative and anti-union variety are usually elected. The northern Democrats, in large measure, are radicals and left-wingers. Will the labor-union leaders allocate all the northern Republicans or support the ones that give promise of being less rigid on labor legislation? Again, it is the Gompers bipartisan policy that emerges as the most practicable course—supporting those Republicans who give promise of being friendly to labor and those Democrats in states where the Republicans have the nod. These Democrats are not likely ever to aid the movement to modify the Taft-Hartley Act.
If, of course, the union chiefs expect to elect a Congress that would emasculate the present law, they might as well waste their support on losing candidates all along the line. The country wants the balance between labor and management maintained. The recent effective use of the present statute to spare the nation industrial catastrophe is too fresh in the minds of the people to listen to the arguments of those who want outright repeal of the Wagner-Taft-Hartley law.

AS PEGLER SEES IT
By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, June 29—President Harry S. Truman made a cryptic remark as one of his bantering asides to the crowd on his western trip which is explained by reference to his own political past and to the historical background of western Missouri. He said in effect that they hadn't hung anything on him.
Mr. Truman obviously referred to his deep, personal implication in the affairs of the Tom Pendergast political machine in Kansas City and Jackson county. This machine thoroughly deserved the title of "gang" in the worst political meaning of that term. It was called the "Capone gang" which ruled Chicago about the same time, having among its forces many of the same kind of murderers. But, whereas the Capone gang flouted all government and brought Chicago almost to the line of anarchy, the criminal element of the Pendergast gang knew its place as a protégé of the local government. It ran the underworld under license from Tom Pendergast, paid tribute to the old man and, on election days, gave him service at the polls.
President Truman began as a political punk in the lower, non-criminal grades of the Pendergast gang. He was a hoodlum who had beyond county office, but it is futile to speculate whether Truman would have recorded some protest against the acts of the gang's criminal auxiliary even if he had set his eyes on the presidency. If he had been that ambitious and if he had, for the record, set down a moral protest, he could have been stopped dead by the same rascal who was pushing the acquiescent county commissioner to the Senate, whence he stumbled, awed and frightened, into the presidency.
As to the reality of this connection between the Pendergast gang and the criminal underworld of Kansas City, I can give testimony. Otto Higgins, old Kansas City star man, and a good reporter, too, had drifted into politics and was police commissioner when I landed in town one winter about ten years ago. When he asked what I wanted to see, I said I felt some delicacy because we were old friends and I wanted to look on the Kansas City underworld by night and write about it. Higgins could have stopped me, had he wanted to, by sending a plain-clothes man to pass the word wherever I went that I was an undesirable visitor. Instead, though, Higgins said he would assign a lieutenant to guide me and show me everything. And I could write freely because, he said, "that is the kind of town our people want."
The lieutenant was the collector but he remarked wisely that he was not neglecting a personal opportunity which came to few county boys. It wouldn't last forever, it didn't.
The graft from the brothels and gambling houses was the political income of the Pendergast gang of which President Truman was not just a member but, by now, an important functionary. Most of our states have laws to punish men who participate in the wages of prostitution but the contempt in which the law holds individuals who do this does not apply in full force against politicians who receive the benefit of such income through the works of a political machine. Like servants gone through process it is somehow deemed to have been cleaned by political treatment, although Frank Hague, in other ways worse than Pendergast, never has permitted commercial vice anywhere that he had the power to prevent it. To Hague the workings of prostitution are still dirty money.
From the standpoint of the political idealist, which President Truman now occupies, it is a heinous crime to conspire to deny to any citizen, especially a Mississippi Negro, any right which has been guaranteed him by the Constitution. That is the theory of Mr. Truman's vigorous endorsement of laws supported by northern, left-wing Democrats, mainly covert Communists in New York, under the title of the civil rights program.
But in Kansas City, the Pendergast gang habitually stuffed ballot boxes, beat up and scared off voters and faked the count, all to the denial of the constitutional right of many citizens, black and white, to vote freely and their right to have their votes should be counted. This was the law. It was an old law passed after the Civil War to create unwonted voting power for carpetbaggers in Negro areas, where the white man was disfranchised. Now it was used against the Pendergast gang by Maurice Milligan, the U. S. attorney there.
It might be said that Harry Truman, by then gone to the Senate, had his orders from Tom Pendergast to obstruct Milligan and get him out of the job. But actually, as a loyal and regular member of the gang, Truman did not have such orders. He acted instinctively. If he fought Mr. Higgins implacably on an issue of the personal right of a senator to prevent the appointment of federal officers in his state who are, for any reason, offensive to the senator.
Milligan's fight is described in a book published last winter under the title, "Missouri Waltz" which previously was the title of a song, however, and so was withdrawn from the book. It tells a terrible story of corruption, of the brutal

West cards. Otherwise, you will not find it much of a problem.

West wins the king and ace of spades and declares trumps the third spade. The problem is to see to it that declarer loses only one trump trick. The correct play is to go over to dummy and lead the nine of hearts. If East plays low, South must play low.

West will show out, and then declarer is all right. If East covers the nine of hearts with the ten, South covers with the king. When West shows out, declarer goes over to dummy and plays another heart to the ace-eight.

Declarer must not take it for granted that the hearts will break three-one and lay down the king of hearts before going over to play from dummy. If he does, he will lose two heart tricks, which will defeat the contract.

WHY "Stepping Down" IS SO IMPORTANT TO YOU

Hudson amazes motor-car world by using vital "step-down" zone—no available in any other car—to bring you riding qualities and safety beyond anything known before!

Word's going 'round—and fast, too—that Hudson gives you a "sweet," smooth, safe ride that is a new high in motor-car performance!

Perhaps you've heard pleased and proud Hudson owners talking about this exciting new experience, but here's something you may have missed hearing:

The key to this amazing new ride lies in that area just under the floor of the average car, which in the New Hudson becomes the "step-down" zone—as illustrated in the sketches at the right.

This "step-down" zone is all-important, because experience has shown that the lower to the ground a car can be built, the better it will handle, the more stability it will have, the safer it will be, and thus the more enjoyable and comfortable will be your ride.

Hudson, and Hudson alone, has accomplished a near miracle of low-built, streamlined and smooth, safe, comfortable riding with a new type of base frame which surrounds the passenger compartment, and thus permits the floor to be lowered down within it. Recessing the floor creates the "step-down" zone and a center of gravity that is the lowest in any American stock car—yet road clearance is ample!

That's why Hudson has a lug-the-road way of going, even in cross-winds, and on every conceivable kind of highway. When you see how this car takes even the sharpest curves, it will spoil you for any other type of automobile! You sense this delightful conformity to the road the minute you begin your ride; and this stability, plus the protection of riding encircled by a sturdy box-section steel frame, gives you a grand feeling of safe well-being.

Sitting in this car is as downright satisfying as stretching out in your favorite easy chair. You ride on seats that are lowered and cradled ahead of the rear wheels and, even with its low silhouette, this breathtakingly beautiful motor car gives you more head room than any other mass-produced car built today! Hudson's use of the vital "step-down" zone in its exclusive, all steel Monohilt body-and-frame is a development that required years of engineering work, the perfection of new production techniques, and millions of dollars in highly specialized new plant investment. Perhaps this explains why Hudson alone offers this new design principle today.

The nearest Hudson dealer has a booklet—yours for the asking—which explains how "stepping down" brings you advantages beyond anything known before! Hudson Motor Car Co., Detroit 14.

*Trademark and patents pending.

OTHER CARS—Here you can see that any car with floor on top of the frame, as shown above, fails to utilize that all-important space between frame members (therefore wasted by placing floor on top of the frame). This results in a high center of gravity, and either a high roof line or insufficient head room.

NEW HUDSON—Here the important space between frame members, shown above, becomes the "step-down" zone—a highly useful addition to interior passenger roominess that creates a new, lower center of gravity, which in turn permits greater safety, improved roadability and ride, a low, streamlined silhouette.

HOW TO KNOW WHEN YOU'VE GIVEN ENOUGH!

Here's a check list for your conscience :

IF you feel perfectly comfortable about it — you haven't given enough!

IF you feel you'd rather mail it in than face the man or woman who has your contribution card—you haven't given enough!

IF you're spending as much on luxuries as you did the day before you made your contribution—you haven't given enough!

IF you have given the same amount you gave last year—you haven't given enough!

IF you have doubled your contribution — when you could easily afford to triple it—you haven't given enough!

This is no mere charity drive. You can't buy the freedom of a people cheap!

Any single soul you are saving would give all his worldly goods to come naked into the land where you are living.

If you feel poorer after you have given—if you have made a real sacrifice—if you feel a bit like you do after a fast—you'll know what we mean.

This is the year of decision. It may be now or never. $250,000,000 is little enough for the saving of a people. God knows what the price will be if we fail!

Don't have it on your conscience! Go all out—and you'll sleep the sleep of the contented.

Rain Is No Barrier

To Maverick Concert
Woodstock, June 30—The downpour which came just prior to the 4 o'clock opening of the first Maverick concert this season made no difference to the music lovers who arrived in great numbers at the Concert Hall for this event.

Of the contemporary works played by the Modern Art String Quartet, Rieti's Quartet in F Major, was the more popular. It was a lighter type of music than the Porter composition, which was a pretentious work and perhaps not as clear to the majority of those present.

So vigorous was the last movement of Quartet No. 3 by Porter that the second violinist broke a string.

Members of the Modern Art String Quartet were received with great enthusiasm by the audience who enjoyed the traditional work of Mozart as well as the contemporary works played.

Murray Aronoff, 22-year-old crew member of the S. S. Exodus, the refugee ship which recently was intercepted at sea by British naval vessels, will be the main speaker at the mass meeting and rally Thursday night at the Congregation Agudas Achim, it was announced today.

Thursday's rally will start at 8 p. m. and the entire community is invited. The guest speaker was obtained by Richard Kalish, chairman, in behalf of the 1948 United Jewish Appeal in Kingston.

Aronoff, a volunteer crew member aboard the Exodus, who had no previous maritime experience, was on deck at the time of the interception by the British vessels, and received injuries.

The Exodus, an excursion boat, built to hold a thousand people, was crammed with 4,500 men, women and children, Jewish displaced persons.

Prior to his service aboard the ship, Aronoff spent several months in Europe during which time he lived as a refugee in D. P. camps in France and Italy.

Following his transfer from the Exodus to a hospital in Palestine, he was sent aboard the Ocean Victory, one of the three British ships that evacuated the Exodus refugees back to France and later to Germany.

Aronoff, who was graduated from DeWitt Clinton High School in New York, is eager to return to Palestine but feels that it is imperative that all America be acquainted with the imperative need of Jewish refugees to find the peace and security in their homeland. It is with this in mind that he is devoting all his time to speaking on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal.

ADVICE MISUNDERSTOOD

An earnest rather than accurate reader of mine caused this family disagreement. "As I understand your directions," writes one sister, "a mouthful of meat may be carried to the mouth with the fork in the left hand, while the knife is retained in cutting position in the right. To me, this sounds correct only when eating meat or other food that has to be cut with a knife. But my sister who is following your advice literally insists that we eat everything with the fork held in the left hand, whether sparring or lifting. She will go through her entire dinner without changing this position of her knife and fork. She does it even when everything on her plate could be cut with the fork and also uses her knife to pile food onto the back of her fork. This does not make any sense at all. Help us, won't you?"

The ugliness of piling food up against the tines of a fork illustrates the probable reason why the exaggerated zigzagging of the fork came about. According to best (cosmopolitan) practice, every variety of food that is cut into mouthfuls, whether it be fish, fowl, salad or dessert (such as pancakes), is cut with the knife and eaten with the fork in the left hand, held tines down. If the food is cut with the fork and the knife is not used, the fork is held in the right hand.

As usual, the show will be held in the Ascension Church Parish House. Flower growers of the region are invited to enter exhibits.

West Park Show In September Will Be 19th Annual

send a present?

Answer: Shower presents are usually small mementos, but if these are actually of value, it seems to me the best thing to do would be to decline the showers. Explain frankly to your friend that you wanted to give her a nice wedding present but that you couldn't give her shower presents and also a wedding present and that you preferred the latter.

Flatbush Road Is To Be Widened by Asphalt Concern

Advisory, June 30. A 5.56-mile section of Route 32 extending from the Kingston city line northward in Ulster county, will be widened to 42 feet and resurfaced with asphalt concrete under terms of a $263,000 contract awarded to S. D. MacCall Corp., of Bloomfield, Conn., by Charles H. Seitz, New York state superintendent of Public Works. Additional strips of bituminous foundation material will be added to each side of the existing macadam pavement which will be cleaned and patched in preparation for the new surface material. A minimum of two and one-half inches of asphalt concrete will be applied over the full width of the widened pavement. At northern end of the project, an additional four-inch bottom course will be applied to strengthen the old pavement before application of the wearing course.

Shoulders will be repaved to a minimum width of three feet to meet the higher elevation of the new pavement. Work is scheduled for completion late this summer and will be progressed one mile at a time so that traffic can be maintained. Users of the route are urged to drive carefully and to observe warning signs and regulations which will be established for their protection. It is particularly important that vehicles be kept off the new pavement material until the contract indicates that it is safe to use. Serious damage to the highway may be caused by premature use of a future resurfacing. The contractor will materially aid in the production of an excellent new pavement and early completion of the work.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 30 (AP)—The stock market loafed along at the slowest rate in recent weeks today but prices gradually edged ahead. Oils and rails again took over leadership of the market with gains running to more than 3 points. Most changes were considerably smaller.

Show activity followed the pattern first set Monday and many in the financial community believed that the traditional summer slack period had started. The heat was too much for many security traders but for those who had the benefit of air conditioning the foreign news was a restraining influence.

Plymouth Oil and Seaboard Oil were in front of the market with gains of around three points. In the rail division Union Pacific and Nickel Plate were fast movers with similar gains. Smaller advances were posted for U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, J. I. Case, American Telephone, Du Pont, U. S. Gypsum, Great Northern Preferred, Illinois Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Richmond Oil and Sinclair Oil.

Lower: Sears, Roebuck, United Aircraft, Schenley, American Can, Woolworth, and American Smelting.

A few railroad loans advanced a little in an otherwise quiet bond market.

Gets 30 Days in Jail

Michael Casey of 49 Cedar street, who was arrested at 11:10 a. m. today on a petit larceny charge, was arraigned in city court today and given 30 days in the Ulster county jail, the police reported. Sgt. William Krom of the police said Casey was arrested on a charge of passing a bad check. He was taken into custody by Officers George Bowers and Gerald Every.

Crisis in Berlin

Map highlights factors in the Russians' critical Berlin blockade which threatens starvation to the millions of Germans in the capital regularly fed by the U. S. Western Allies have 15,000 troops in Berlin, 12,000 of them combat soldiers, almost totally dependent for military supplies on the single highway and railroad from the U. S. and British occupation zones.

Where Soviets Block Allies From Berlin

been frozen for the past 10 days. Motor traffic along the single highway from Helmstedt to Berlin also remained stopped.

The Russians relented in one phase of their blockade. Through their official press they announced they had offered to restore fresh milk deliveries to western sectors from their surrounding zone "in exchange for compensating foodstuffs."

"I don't consider this an act of generosity by the Russians or German Communists. The lives of 6,000 babies in our sector were endangered by their sudden shut-off of milk supplies and many would have died if we hadn't taken the precaution of distributing whole dry milk and condensed milk in advance."

"We will continue to use these substitute formulas because we dare not risk another such arbitrary action."

On the Soviet side, the Russian-sponsored Socialist Unity Party announced with great fanfare a two-year economic plan for the Soviet occupation zone. The program called for increased production during 1948 and further big advances in 1949-50.

The Communist-controlled party called for closer economic ties with the Russian-dominated eastern bloc of nations and claimed it had promises of raw materials from this area.

Sokolovsky announced last night that the highway to Berlin from the west would remain closed indefinitely "to stop illegal importation of currency from the western zones to Berlin."

The Russian commander was quoted as voicing regret over Berlin's plight, but contended the Soviet action was taken to protect the Russian zone's economy in the wake of the currency reform in the western zones of Germany.

Berlin now has two kinds of money—Russian and western.

Moscow Cautions Readers on Dewey

Moscow, June 30 (AP)—The Literary Gazette cautioned its readers today that if Thomas E. Dewey is elected President, he will try to master the world through American imperialism.

The Soviet publication declared that Wall Street is behind the G.O.P. nominee and added that once in the White House, he intends to continue "separating" the frequently stumbling horse harnessed at present to the Presidential chariot.

Bias told tape originally was known as convent tape. This name was given because it was used widely by nuns.

Three Free Homes May Be Erected for Ulster Veterans

The plan to present some Ulster county totally and permanently disabled veteran with a memorial to a disabled war hero, which was announced last week by Manager Robert Case of Reindeer's Kingston theatres, may develop into a plan to erect three such homes in Ulster county, Mr. Case said today.

At present a committee is working on a plan to have three homes erected. Should this plan be worked out the three disabled veterans will be presented with deeds to the properties on July 20 at the Broadway Theatre on the night of the last showing of the picture "Our Blandish Brides His Dream Home." The picture will be shown at the Broadway Theatre from July 14 to July 20.

Last Saturday Mr. Case announced that plans were being made to erect a home in Ulster county for some totally disabled veteran and that Nick Schwarz of the Port Jervis Lumber Company had donated a lot in Port Jervis and other firms had consented to provide the necessary materials for the erection and equipping of the house.

Since that time in cooperation with the Ulster County Veterans Agency, Mr. Case has found that there are at least three completely disabled veterans in the county and it is his idea now to provide three homes for these local heroes.

Location of the homes has not been determined, Mr. Case said today, but that is being worked out with the committee and in conjunction with Ulster county veterans' organizations.

The plan to erect a free house as a memorial has the backing of business men, labor unions, veterans organizations and many citizens of the city and county and the committee is now endeavoring to broaden this idea and raise sufficient funds to provide three memorial homes in the county.

A meeting of the committee and a report from county veterans' organizations has been scheduled to further discuss the plan for three memorial homes, possible location of the homes and other details relative to the raising of approximately $30,000 which would be required to finance the program.

VARY FORMULA FOR MEAT PATTIES

Meat patties gain a new flavor from addition of a little mayonnaise.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
SEA Staff Writer

Chopped beef is always good food. But if served the same way time after time, it becomes monotonous. Try new recipes and there won't be any appetite destroying monotony.

Chief Edward Djura of the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C., has thought up this deluxe meat patty.

Chief Eddie Meat Patties
(Makes 6 large patties)

One pound lean ground beef, 1 medium sized onion, chopped fine; 1/2 cup fresh chopped strips of parsley, salt and pepper to taste, 1/2 cup canned tomatoes, drained; 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, 4 slices bacon.

Saute the onions in vegetable oil until golden brown; mix with the meat; season with salt and pepper. Add canned tomatoes, mayonnaise and parsley. Form into patties and wrap each patty in bacon. Place in pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Serve with sliced tomatoes and onions and pepper rings.

For another variation, try this: To serve four: Roll one pound freshly ground round steak or top sirloin into small balls about 4-inch diameter. Season with salt and pepper and roll lightly in flour. Brown evenly in hot fat, then place in shallow baking dish. Add an 8-ounce can of tomato sauce. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 30 minutes. Turn the meat balls occasionally and baste with sauce. Serve with fluffy rice.

Try mixing chili sauce or catsup with chopped round steak, forming into patties, and browning quickly on both sides on very hot grill. Serve with slices of raw onion and toasted bread or rolls.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, soft-cooked eggs, corn muffins, butter or fortified margarine, marmalade, coffee, milk.

LUNCH: Watercress, tomato and mayonnaise sandwiches, toasted peanut butter and chopped raw carrot sandwiches, prepared vanilla pudding with stewed blackberries, tea, milk.

DINNER: Chief Eddie meat patties, sliced sweet onion and tomato and green pepper rings, mashed potatoes, corn on cob, green salad, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, watermelon, iced coffee, milk.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 30 (AP)—The position of the Treasury June 28 compared with corresponding date a year ago: Receipts $190,749,638.40; expenditures $328,673,678.46 (X); balance $4,828,134.91.37; customs receipts for month $30,089,838.08; receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $41,146,834.404.08; expenditures for fiscal year $38,328,783,088.06 (X); excess of receipts $251,711,316.62 (X); total debt $251,711,316.62 (X); increase over previous day $13,387,998.92; gold assets $23,532,316,946.79 (X)—Reflects (a) $3,000,000,000 (b) expenditure charge for bookkeeping transfer to Foreign Economic Cooperation Trust Fund. The charge automatically was counted as a reduction in the excess of receipts over expenditures, which makes up the budget surplus to date.

MULLER GOES AGAINST NEW YORK FIREMEN

Colonial Lefty Seeks Initial Win of Season

The Kingston Colonials seek their third straight victory when they battle the crack New York Fire Department nine at municipal stadium at 8:45 tonight.

Gunning for his first victory will be the ace southpaw, Warren Muller. One of the greatest pitchers ever to wear a Kingston uniform, Muller was stymied by poor support in two starts against the New York Cubans and the San Juan Stars.

Kingston has a 3 and 2 record as they prepare to battle the powerful municipal squad which holds a 10-7 edge over the New York Police in the New York city municipal series.

with the Smoke Eaters for about a decade.

Manager Joe Hoffman will go with the same lineup that has been impressive in successive victories over the House of David and the Hudson River Hawks. Tom Corrigan emerged from his slump against the Hudsons with two hits and drove in the winning marker.

White Is Star
Among the New York standouts is Herbie White, catcher, who was a scholastic sensation in New York city about 10 years ago. After winning the World-Telegram Most Valuable Player award, White was signed by the New York Yankees and was with Kansas City Blues and the Newark Bears for several years.

White dropped out of organized ball last year, played part of the season with the famous Bushwicks and then joined the fire department. He is a right handed long ball hitter.

The Colonials' inner defense of Fred Price, Johnny Gentile, Pat Colombo and Buddy Van Horpe has been impenetrable in the last three games.

Ristau Stars
Steve Ristau contributed two great throws against the Night Hawks and Bill Lohman fashioned two hits. Ernie Downer, who covers more ground than a circus tent, will be in center.

West Shore-Wiltwyck Game Halted by Umpire

Bagatelles:

Rain and the constant threat of rain has cost the Kingston Colonials a potential 3,000 fans and nearly hobbled the City League schedule. . . . The inadequacy of the municipal stadium for sustained baseball programs has been reflected rather pointedly in the past two seasons. . . . The stadium will never be an ideal baseball setup until a roof is installed over the grandstand. . . . That, dear readers, will cost a lot of money that just isn't around. . . . The city, however, will have to face the fact someday that any organization investing a considerable sum of money for a baseball project in the uptown park should have an even chance against the elements. . . . Today and ever since the stadium was built, a light shower or even threatening weather cuts heavily into the attendance.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

The Colonials have three "class" semi-pro squads on this week's schedule starting with tonight's clash against the New York Firemen. . . . Black Yankees Saturday and Springfield Greys Sunday are as good as they come. . . . If A. B. Garrison of Walden wants some opposition, let him contact any of these powerhouses. . . . Mort Luby's 1947-48 All-America bowling squad honors Andy Varipapa, Joe Whitman, Ned Day, Walter Johnson, a newcomer from Fremont, Ohio, Russ Gersonde of Milwaukee and Paul Krumske of Chicago. . . . This team so strong it could get by even in the summer mixed duckpin circuit. . . . Andy Varipapa is our choice for the Bowler of the Year Award. . . . We voted for Andy last year but the prize went to Buddy Bonnar of Chicago. . . . What's this about Palmer Brodhead joining the grocery business? . . . City League protest board to get some work soon. . . . the Chez-Emile protest. . . . Two managers thinking seriously of week-end doubleheaders and single attractions to relieve the badly backed-up schedule.

Of Men and Mice:

The Hambletonian Stakes in Goshen on August 11 will be worth $50,000 this year. . . . Eight topflight trotters are conceded a chance to win the widest open race as well as the richest in the past 20 years. . . . Coach Jack Hughes of Middletown reported seriously ill. . . . Liberty High's golfers won the Section 9 title. . . . Billy Rappaport and Alderman Randy Kelder do not expect to compete in the New York State Horseshoe Pitching Championships in Central Park on July 3-4-5. . . . Harry Lewis, who recently filed a $100,000 suit against Branch Rickey for "stealing" the Kingston franchise in the 1947 North Atlantic League is president and treasurer of the New York division of the National Girls Baseball League. . . . Paul Kanan slugging at a .600 clip in the city softball circuit (21 hits in 35 trips). . . . Get your name and slogan ready for the new Ruzzo alleys. . . . Details for the $500 contest will be announced in a few days.

He Recognized Him As a Couch:

During his 26 years in football, Bo McMillan established himself as a speaker par excellence before audience or on the radio. . . . McMillan, who left Indiana for the professional Detroit Lions, was dazed while learning that to speak extemporaneously differs from speaking off a carefully prepared copy. At the close of a recent Detroit broadcast, the famous coach handed his script to the show's production manager, a stranger, declaring: "I wasn't too good, was I buddy?" "Forget it," came the reply, "You're not supposed to be a speaker."

The Tenth Inning:

Ernie Downer, the Colonial centerfielder, slammed a grand-slam homer for Walden last Friday night. . . . "Duke" Landgraf, the volatile North Atlantic League president, is still having umpire trouble. . . . The intent to get in the Duke's thinning hair is Frank Butler, Stroudsburg skipper, who was fined $50 for invading the sanctity of umpire's dressing room. . . . to compare an argument. . . . Sixteen minor league clubs, the Montreal Royals, Albany Senators and Three Rivers, Quebec, have turned down Colonial requests for an exhibition game. . . . Too many rainy days, too many games to be made up. . . . Nynck has a string of 36 scoreless innings charged against him in the North Atlantic. . . . Charlie Francello played third base for the Walden Maroons last night. . . . Reserve Sunday, July 11, for the Kingston Power Boat Association regatta on the Rondout. . . . a real show. . . . All you kids don't forget to sign up with one of the four parks in the K.A.A. baseball setup.

Delamater Wins 440-Yard Race In Bridge City

Bert Delamater of Kingston High won the 440 yard dash in the first annual track meet sponsored by the Poughkeepsie Junior Chamber of Commerce Sunday in the Bridge City.

More than 200 athletes representing 13 schools and organizations competed.

Delamater, a member of the K.H.S. track varsity, was clocked in 54 seconds in the quarter mile. Delamater was the only winner in the local contingent.

Ed Trombley won third in the 220; John Weber was second in the pole vault; Joe Ruzzo was second in the 220 low hurdles. Other seconds were scored by Conlon of Kingston in the 100 yard dash and by Diamond in the high jump.

221 Rings
New York New York Giant baseball players wear "221" gold rings representing the number of homers the club hit in 1947 to set a new major league record.

Braves Outbid Field For Schoolboy Ace

Boston, June 30 (AP)—The Boston Braves reported last night they had gone "unbelievable high with bonus money in outbidding eight other major league clubs" to sign John Antonelli, 17-year-old left-handed pitcher of Rochester, N. Y.

Antonelli pitched five no-hitters in three years at Rochester's Jefferson High School.

The youngster was signed at his home by Tribal President Lou Perini, who is flying the boy and his father and brother here in the private Bonair plane.

Braves General Manager John Quinn said the Tribe had outbid the Boston Red Sox, New York Yankees, New York Giants, Cleveland Indians, Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Cardinals, Pittsburgh Pirates, and Cincinnati Reds.

Perini, in Rochester, would not disclose his offer but Antonelli's family said previously the Red Sox offered $50,000.

But Breakage

New York—Major league baseball clubs use from 600 to 800 bats during each season.

Prucnal Rules Trainmen Were 'Not Playing Ball'

Umpire Johnny Prucnal made City Baseball League history yesterday when he halted the West Shore-Wiltwyck contest with one out in the last of the sixth.

In boxing parlance, the soft-spoken arbiter ruled it "no contest," although the record books today show an official 11-0 victory for Wiltwyck Motors over the hapless West Shore brigade.

Suffering their sixth straight loss, the West Shore squad hit a new low for the season. Wiltwycks were piling up runs in telephone numbers and the trainmen were plying their trade with apparent indifference when Umpire Prucnal decided to halt the miseries for the spectators and players alike.

Said Team Quit

Later the umpire said he called the game because "West Shore was fooling around and wasn't playing the game of baseball as it should be played."

So far as this historian can recall it was the first time in City League history that such action has been taken by an umpire. And West Shore long has seemed like the logical team to inspire such unprecedented action.

For the sake of the records, Prucnal's action took the lustre off a neat pitching stint by Harry Basch of Wiltwycks. Basch permitted only two hits in six innings, fanned eight and would have won decisively no matter what frame of mind the Shore was in.

Use Three Hurlers

Manager Pucker Davis, Ashdown and Vince Clearwater took turns on the mound for West Shore and the Motormen sluggers released all three. They pounded out 10 hits with J. Secreto and Tom Carlino each getting a pair. After two mild innings Wiltwyck led 1-0. Then came the deluge. The winners picked up four runs in the third, slumped to only one in the fourth and racked up five more in the fifth. Came the sixth and Umpire Prucnal figured everybody had enough.

The victory undistinguished as it was enabled Wiltwycks to move into a second place tie with Jones Dairy with 4 wins and 2 defeats.

Handless Trombonist Wins Honors

Using a specially designed trombone which permits him to use the books that replace his right hand, Ralph Nelson Hoar, 18, of Emden, Ill., skillfully manipulates his trombone with the Egyptian Music Camp band at DuQuoin, Ill. Ralph lost his left arm and right hand in a moving machine five years ago, but learned to play so well that he won a two-week scholarship to the camp.

SHOKAN

Shokan, June 30 James A. Hartung came up from New York the latter part of the week to look over his north boulevard place and do a little brook trout fishing.

John Loueck, Jr., local K.I.S. student, is doing all right in his summer retail ice delivery business.

Alfred Tapone of Ashokan has resumed his duties with the maintenance force of the mountain division of the New York Central.

Miss Alice White of Phoenix spent Monday with her sister, Mrs. Harry Weeks, and in Kingston.

Looking Backward
A marriage of Wednesday, June 25, 1910, was that which united Fred C. Toms and Olive Burgher, daughter of Mathias and Jane A. Burger of West Shokan.

The ceremony was performed at the Burgher farmhouse by the Rev. R. N. Toms of Canton, father of the groom. Bridesmaids were Jessie Burgher and Florence Smith of Margerville, a cousin of the bride. Mr. Toms was attended by his brother, Robert Toms, manager of the Dupont Powder plant at Brown's Station.

Following a collation of 200 guests, the couple left on an auto trip through the Hudson Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Toms since residing from Olive many years ago have resided in Woodstock.

Here and There
The Outlook Mail in its "50 Years Ago" column relates the escapades of John G. in 12-year-old Shandaken youngster who appears to have been one of the first juvenile long-distance hikers in the Catskills.

John, having been punished by his teacher for some slight delinquency at school, ran out and proceeded to walk to Kingston where his widowed mother was employed at the time. He went barefooted and spent the entire night on the road. One can imagine that the lad must find some rather creepy moments en route as for instance, past the cemetery in lower Shandaken, along the Esopus Creek road between Boiceville and old Shokan where on one side of the narrow, treacherous "dugway" loomed the high steep bank of clay and boulders while on the other rushed the swift waters of the upper Esopus Creek. A dirt road well sprinkled with stones dug up by hooves of many horses, doubtless provided stubbed-toes hazards aplenty for "barefoot boy with cheeks of tan" throughout most of his 28-mile hike to the county seat.

Republican voters of the Olive district will meet in caucus Saturday evening, July 3, at DuBois Garage for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention in Kingston July 10, together with other party business.

Posted notices of the meeting are forwarded by committeemen Patrick O'Keefe of Boiceville and Lemuel DuBois of Ashokan.

Boys of '61
One of the few Civil War veterans who survived the war, works up and lived to take up residence in the new village of Shokan was Abram J. Every who had enlisted, January 6, 1861, in the 5th Heavy Artillery and was discharged from the Union Army July 10, 1865.

Mr. Every's term of service coincided with that of John J. Dudley, also a member of the 5th, who survived all of his comrades in Olive. The 5th Artillery, also known as the 2nd Regiment, Jackson H. A., was first recruited in 1861 and was headed by Col. Samuel Graham and Lieut. Com. Edward Murray. It was mustered into Federal service at N. Y. Harbor in April, 1862. Companies A-H were supplemented by Companies I, K, L, and M as formed from the 3rd Battalion, Black River Artillery. The regiment was at Cedar Creek, Harper's Ferry, Spicket's Ferry, Winchester and other points. Total losses in killed, wounded and missing sustained by the 5th was 875 men. Losses by death alone aggregated one officer and 391 men. Veteran Every before moving to Shokan was a farmer in the Brown's Station area. He was a grandfather of Mrs. Alva Buley, Jr., the former Evelyn Goldman.

Held Mystery Key
The Rosetta Stone, containing inscriptions in three ancient languages, provided the key that unlocked the mystery of ancient Egyptian hieroglyphics.

Bard Playhouse To Open Tonight

Preview for Sponsors, Press Is Well Received; Novel Venture

Marked by the particularly outstanding performance of Thomas Palmer, and with the capable support of Ruth Altman, Betty Lou Evans, Pamela Rivers, Robinson Stone, Edith Knight and Louise Avery, Tuesday night's sponsor preview of Noel Coward's "Billie Spirit" at the Bard College Playhouse, Annandale-on-Hudson, was an excellent forecast for a successful season.

Tonight at 8:30 the Bard company, an Equity group under the stage direction of Robert Hartung, will present the first public performance of the comedy. This, also, will be "first night" for the theatre, a novel summer venture among American colleges.

The play will continue through Saturday.

Numbered as the sponsors are many persons of Dutchess and Columbia counties prominent in the civic, educational and social lives of their communities. Among Ulster county sponsors are Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Wicks and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, of Kingston.

Memorial Gymnasium on the Bard campus, represents a remarkable transformation from undergraduate utility to professional artistry. The entire handling of arrangements speaks well for the months of preparatory work on the part of the staff.

Also deserving of commendation is the handling of the living room in Charles Condomine's house in Kent.

Following Tuesday night's performance a reception was held in Preston Hall. In the receiving line were Dr. Edward C. Fuller, president of Bard College, and Mrs. Fuller; also Lew Davis and Mrs. Davis; S. Freeman, managing director and assistant managing director respectively.

Maple Hill Dance
A dance sponsored by the Maple Hill School Association will be held at the Maple Hill School on Saturday with music from 9 a. m. to 1 o'clock by Floyd Dietz and His Singing Sons of the Saddle. Refreshments will be served.

Many buildings in modern Spain are decorated with ceramic tiles which, after 400 years, still bear Arabic quotations inscribed by Saracen invaders of Southern Europe.

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Carroll Reece, former Republican national chairman, said today he has been asked by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to help campaign for the Republican presidential ticket. He told a reporter he does not intend to serve the party, but he said he is willing to help because he believes the Dewey-Warren combination is a "good ticket." Reece, who gave up a seat in the House to accept the party chairmanship without pay, was a supporter of Senator Taft of Ohio for the G.O.P. nomination at Philadelphia. His successor as national chairman, Rep. Hugh D. Scott, Jr., of Pennsylvania, was due at national committee headquarters today for the first time since his election at Philadelphia last Saturday.

As Pegler Sees It

frustration of Americans who tried to vote against Truman's gang and were thwarted by that gang, of killings in elections, of the murder of a treasury agent who went looking for income-tax evidence, and of the power of a cut-throat named Johnny Lazia, who ran the underworld, colonized and delivered the Italian section and actually was moderator of the kidnapping industry thereabouts. Lazia finally was killed, and my own guide and political delineator told me it was a damned shame because he was smart, fair and firm and never stood for no trouble.

Lazia was the modern successor to Jesse James in his particular zone of influence.

The contrast between President Truman's political fraternity the James gang by Governor with the worst criminals of his own time in a historically criminal section of the country and the swift campaign of obliteration of the James gang by Governor

Thomas T. Crittenden in 1881 will be the theme of tomorrow's lesson.
